

STATUE OF CAMPBELL FOR THE HALL OF FAME.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:—I have read with interest the editorial comments and the various communications in the Intelligencer, in reference to the statue to be placed in the "Hall of Fame." In the national capitol at Washington, so far as West Virginia is interested, in handing down to posterity who were, as it would be called in this era, the promoters of the "war state," without detracting from the records of the late Senator Kennen, so far as aiding in the birth of this state another statue should have been selected. Pardon any apparent egotism, but along with Messrs. Campbell and Willie Nichols, of Wheeling, the writer was one of the "attendants" at the making and birth of West Virginia, as a page in all the various conventions—including the convention that divided the state as well as in the first legislature of the state, which assembled in the Linsly Institute and finally in the custom house at Wheeling. The name of Hon. A. W. Campbell is pre-eminent, the one that should be selected for the statue to be placed in the "Hall of Fame." He was instrumental in laying the foundation for the state and educating the masses into the spirit of loyalty and patriotism to the United States and formed the Union Republican party that gave so much valuable assistance to the general government during the dark and trying times of '61 to '66. He was fitted in every respect to be a leader of men—amongst men, and Mr. Campbell should have been one of the United States senators of the restored government as well as from the "infant state."

Some Noted Men.

The men that made it possible for there being a state of West Virginia were many—for instance from memory I recall such names as the Boremans, Campbell, Tarr, Wiley, Crothers, from Brooke county; D. D. T. Farnsworth from Upshur; John S. Carlie, from Harrison; Pierpont, from Marion; Hooten and Zinn, from Preston; Wiley and Evans, from Manassah; Peter G. Van Winkle, from Wood; "Uncle" John Michael, from Hardy; the Carskadons, from Hampshire; Sam Crane, who afterwards was the auditor of the state; the two young Demosthenes from Hardy, Messrs. Vance and Davis, (who were always on the "conservative" side of the question and became "new born" Democrats); and from the grand old county of Ohio were the Messrs. Horn-brooks, Hubbards, Archib. W. Campbell, George Harrison, Daniel Lamb and many other good and true men from that county who rendered aid, not forgetting the Messrs. Norton. There were legions of loyal men and men of fame that would acceptably fill the "niche" in the nation's capitol, with honor to the state and credit to the country. But as there is only one "niche" to be filled, that is vacant—why, by all means place there the "bus" of the Hon. A. W. Campbell, the gifted and loyal son of West Virginia. When the custom house was selected for the government in '61, and we had the grand rally and the placing of the Stars and Stripes on that building, who was present? It was the loyal sons of West Virginia (then of the Pan-Handle of Virginia), whose names were called "traitors" by those few that voted for the ordinance of secession.

First Military Organization.

As a boy I can well remember the first military organization of the "Senior Home Guards," of which I have in my possession the original roster and minutes in a most excellent state of preservation. Whose names are on this record? I will tell your readers—the names are of those who were born patriots and whose loyalty said "take-up-a-gun-and-fight-for-your-principles of right and justice"—and they did it. I hardly think there is a member of that organization but that has answered the last roll call on this earth. It does appear ingratitude—when the memories of these loyal dead heroes could be commemorated—should be passed by—and latter day politicians be rewarded at the expense of this grand and growing state. The younger generation cannot only know by histories the important parts that were participated in by their forefathers—and that only imperfectly. They cannot imagine the difficulties of those dangerous and trying times. How well can I remember when the "Shiriver Greys" went away in pairs to join the then forming Confederate army, but in those days known as the "rebel army," which assembled at Harper's Ferry. But let bygones be bygones, but let us reverse the fame of our then loyal and distinguished fellow citizens and place the bust of the Hon. A. W. Campbell as a leader of men in the Hall of Fame.

Yours very truly,

J. F. HARRISON.

TOPICS OF THE SCHOOLS.

"We believe the great step to be taken by teachers, the one that separates them from all other classes of persons, is to be dedicated to a fervent interest in the moral and intellectual elevation of humanity. The weakness of the profession is that it turns itself to benefiting the world by means of the spelling."

These words are taken from one of our foremost educational journals, and are given from the fact that there is more truth than poetry in them. That there is too little attention paid to moral training in our public schools, goes without saying. We are as teachers, loath to admit this, but it is the truth nevertheless. Teachers there are who enter the school room day after day, pass through the daily programme of recitations without once mentioning to the pupils the great end and aim of all education, the formation of a character that will stand, when everything else may fail. But how one may ask, is this to be done? Shall we have text books on the subject, and thus give lessons in character building as we do in the various branches taught? No! a thousand times no! But the true teacher never lacks opportunities for giving this instruction. Every day there are enough school room happenings to furnish all the facts on which to base the instruction. Stories of the good and great, the deeds of those who have become famous for their goodness, (the love of right and the hatred of wrong in all its forms are but some of the many ways in which moral instruction can be given. The moral elevation of the masses especially in our great cities, is becoming more and more a question of the day. Just now there is much ado concerning the wickedness of New York and the good people of the city have been profoundly stirred by the discovery that certain forms of vice exist there in spite of the great army of surly police that are paid for the very purpose of keeping in check the very crimes that seem to flourish more and more as the years go by. What is said of New York can be said, more or less, of every large city, even of Wheeling, for instance. But it is not the purpose to speak of this only to say that the policeman's club is not the remedy for the existing evils, but we need a moral training for our boys and girls that will make them proof against the temptations that assail them on every hand in our large cities. When our public schools were first started, their object was to give merely a knowledge of the common branches, while moral training was left to the church and church schools, but everything is different now. The state long ago avowed the fact that an education without the moral training is worse than no education, hence it asks for men and women as the finished products of our school, and to make these required moral training of the very best kind. One of the very best teachers of morals is the teacher's own life, lived in the presence of his pupils. Are we living a life we would have our pupils to live.

Teaching Manners.

Dr. E. E. White says: "Our public schools are not doing a tithe of what they should do to give our boys and girls refined and beautiful manners. I say it strongly, for on this one point I feel deeply the lack of training in the schools. And again I thank no teacher for telling my child puerile fairy tales. Paganism has gone through human flesh and degradation. No class of stories needs greater acknowledging than these myths from the Greek and Hindu writings. It is not necessary to go through this to reach the beautiful and the elevating." While Dr. White may be somewhat radical in his views, still there is much truth in what he says concerning Greek myths and pagan fables. They may have their places in human culture, but with the great majority of them that place is where the child may never see them. While an ideal world is all right and the child will have it during the imagination period, that ideal world ought to approach the real as nearly as possible. Many of these myths and fables are so unreal that the already unduly developed imagination of the child is filled with vagaries that do much harm every way. Much good judgment should be used in selecting books for children at this critical period of life. That refinement should be brought into the school room in all its phases no one will deny, and all who have the good of the child at heart will heartily agree that it should be done, but that we must go back thousands of years in the world's history to get that refinement is a sad comment on the civilization of the present day. If the teacher wishes to teach refinement he must be refined; if he wishes to teach morality, he must be moral; and if he wishes to teach manliness in all its phases, he must be himself a man in the true sense of the word.

By the way, both morals and manners should receive more attention in our schools. How boisterous and rough our boys are on the streets and how rude our girls are. The teacher, remembering that the finished products of our schools should be manly men and womanly women, should labor unceasingly to this end. Let no effort be spared, but every possible means used to attain this great end. In all this work example has more effect than any other thing. A boisterous, scolding teacher, will have an unruly school. Speak to the pupils in a harsh tone and you arouse in them the same nature that is behind the tone in the teacher.

Cancer

There are never any external signs of Cancer until the blood is polluted and the system thoroughly contaminated by this deadly violent poison. Then a sore or ulcer appears on some part of the body; it may be small and harmless-looking at first, but as the cancerous cells form and are deposited by the blood near the sore, it increases in size and severity, with sharp shooting pains. No matter how often the sore is removed by the surgeon's knife or flesh destroying plasters, another comes and is worse. The real disease is in the blood, and the treatment must begin there. The poisoned blood must be invigorated and purified, and when this is done cancerous cells can no longer form and the sore will heal naturally and permanently.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keeling, of Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 47 years old, and for three years have suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors said was incurable, and I could not eat or sleep. I was in a desperate condition, and I had given up all hope of ever being well again. When my friend, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, to the surprise of the physicians, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, am enjoying perfect health."

S. S. S. overcomes this destructive poison and removes every vestige of it from the system, makes new, rich blood, strengthens the body and builds up the general health. If you have a suspicious sore, or have inherited any blood taint, send for our free book on Cancer, and write to our medical department for any information or advice wanted; we will not charge for this service. Your letter will receive prompt and careful attention, and will be held in strictest confidence. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

A RUN FOR LIFE!

KIDNEY DISEASES ARE LIKE WOLVES THAT PREY UPON THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

THERE IS BUT ONE SURE CURE FOR KIDNEY TROUBLES KID-NE-OIDS

If your Kidneys are not just right, look out, there is danger and death to follow. Serious troubles may seem very far off at present but they will soon overwhelm you unless you stop their progress. Morrow's Kid-Ne-Oids are a scientific discovery for the cure of all diseases arising from disordered Kidneys, Poor Nerves and Thin, Watery and Impoverished Blood. They are an unfailing Kidney tonic, nerve restorer and blood builder. Kid-Ne-Oids are yellow tablets and are never sold in less quantities than a box of six.

Morrow's Liver-Lax cures constipation, biliousness and colic. Sells for 50c. a box at drug stores. Kid-Ne-Oids and Liver-Lax are manufactured by John Morrow & Co., Chemists, Springfield, Ohio.

Mrs. J. C. Williams, residing at 9 Florida street, says: "I was troubled with disordered kidneys for about ten years, and it seemed that nothing I could get would cure me. I read about Morrow's Kid-Ne-Oids and decided that I would try them. I obtained some and after taking them for a few days my condition was very greatly improved. I procured more and continued the treatment until I was entirely relieved of the pains across my back."

A lady or gentleman with a determined will, using a refined and cultured tone of voice, cannot fail to control in the schoolroom. The child is a good judge of human nature and it is led at will by the kindly voice of the sympathetic teacher.

Mothers' Meetings.

The next Mothers' meetings at Ritchie school will be held as follows: On Wednesday, December 13th, at 10:00 a.m. building, and the day following at the main building. The meetings will be held at 3 o'clock, and it is expected that there will be a large turn out of parents. Mothers are urged to come and spend the afternoon in whatever school rooms they wish to visit. Also come prepared to present anything they wish at the meeting. If they have complaints, make them in the presence of both teacher and principal, and if they have words of praise, they need not refrain from speaking them. Come, mothers, and consult for an hour with the teachers of your children, concerning their welfare. It will do you good, your children good, and the entire school will be benefited.

Preparation and Recitations.

While it is a very desirable thing to have correct recitations in the school room, we teach as though this were the only thing sought. The work required in the preparation of the lesson is the main thing. Then how important that pupils be taught how to study. There should be study periods if possible, every day in every school room, and the teachers work during this period is just as difficult, if not more so, than during the recitation period. The child must be taught how to study. While not attempting in these short notes to give a plan of study, the following suggestions are made: The pupil must be left entirely alone while studying. The must be perfect quiet, except what little noise might be made by the teacher's assistant in the work. There must be no whispering, passing of notes or other disturbance. Children should be taught to do much in a short space of time. "They should be trained to close observation through rapid reading, spelling, etc. They should be taught to analyze, to get the thought from statements." These suggestions are from the pen of an able educator.

Voice Culture.

If there is one thing more sadly neglected than another in the public schools of to-day, it is that of voice culture or training. In saying this, it is not meant that elocution, so called, is neglected. It is better, perhaps, that this is the case; but pure voice training; teaching pupils to speak plainly. How to use the organs of speech properly is an accomplishment more to be desired than all the elaborate culture without the art spoken of. We must wake up to the importance of this, and from the day the child first enters the school room until he leaves it, the teacher ought, by example and by careful teaching, strive to lead to the habit of properly using the voice in reading, speaking or in talking. This will be sure to lead to a love for language study, which is so rare among the pupils of to-day, especially the boys. The human voice, when properly trained, is a great force in human affairs and there should be no neglect by the teachers in this respect.

THE PEDAGOGUE.

Another Gusher Struck.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. WESTON, W. Va., Dec. 10.—The James Mullady well No. 2 came in yesterday, and is doing probably 1,200 barrels daily. This well is on the same farm where the big Mullady gusher is located. Some reports place its output at much above that here given. It is at least equal to any other well yet drilled in the Sand Fork field.

BOARD OF REGENTS

Of the State University Will Meet in Parkersburg—Other Items of Interest From the College Town.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 10.—

President George C. Sturgis, of the board of regents of the West Virginia University, has called a special meeting of the board at Parkersburg on December 17. The primary reason for selecting Parkersburg as the place of meeting is the illness of Regent Powell, whose home is there; but another strong reason is that the board does not wish to be subjected to the continuous button-holing of its members which goes on here where it meets. The board will make up its estimates for the next legislative appropriation. Prof. Thomas C. Miller, recently elected state superintendent of free schools, will place his resignation before the board. His place will be divided and two men will be elected, one as principal of the preparatory department and the other as professor of pedagogy. The board will take some steps looking to the building of an observatory. There is a probability that some changes will be made in the faculty. As the university matters were in issue in the last campaign, the regents and President Raymond look upon the result as an endorsement of their policy and will endeavor to enforce it still further.

All of the land lying on the west side of the Monongahela river between Morgantown and the Pennsylvania line has within the past ten days been for sale and gas purposes and there is the usual excitement among the farmers. A test well will be drilled in a few days. The finding of gas is considered such a sure thing that a number of the men who have the territory leased have formed a company for the purpose of competing with the present gas company and will pipe their product as soon as the wells are completed.

After an illness of nearly four months, due to the low water and consequent inability to get the product to market, all the coal works on the Monongahela river north of here will resume operations to-morrow, and 10,000 men will be given employment. There are in all sixty-five of these mines and miners have been coming in from other points for several days.

Cards are being received here for the approaching marriage of Prof. J. W. Carr, of the school of German in the university, to Miss Florence Hollister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hollister, who live at East Main street, New York City. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, on December 20.

The local organization of the W. C. T. U. has unanimously awarded the $25 prize given to a student of the university for the best essay on "The Passing of Alcohol," to William W. Smith. There were twenty competitors for the prize.

At a meeting of the board of health yesterday evening, it was decided to postpone the quarantining of the town for a few days. There are no suspected cases here, but the board has information that there are several at Fairmont and Grafton.

"I'm Simply all Worn Out."

The story is the same, no matter what her station in life may be.

If she is one of the favored daughters of wealth, if she belongs even to the realm of the "well-to-do,"

Or—

If she belongs to the unnumbered thousands who must work in order to live—

The story is just the same; all suffer from about the same cause, and in this suffering "peculiar to women," all reach the same level, and all are of the same family.

When a woman is nervous and irritable, head and back ache, feels tired all the time, loses sleep and appetite, has pains in groins, bearing-down sensation, whites and irregularities, she is not "worn out," but feels as if she were.

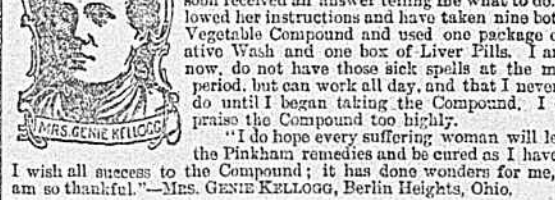

Such symptoms tell her that a womb trouble is imminent, and she cannot act too promptly if she values her future comfort and happiness.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., as thousands do.

MRS. KELLOGG'S STATEMENT.

"One year ago I read a letter in a paper telling how much good one woman had derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had been sick all winter, and was nearly discouraged, as the medicine the doctor gave me did me no good. I had kidney complaint, leucorrhoea, itching, bearing-down feeling, and painful menstruation. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, describing my trouble, and soon received an answer telling me what to do. I followed her instructions and have taken nine bottles of Vegetable Compound and used one package of Sanative Wash and one box of Liver Pills. I am well now, do not have those sick spells at the monthly period, but can work all day, and that I never could do until I began taking the Compound. I cannot praise the Compound too highly."

"I do hope every suffering woman will learn of the Pinkham remedies and be cured as I have been. I wish all success to the Compound; it has done wonders for me, and I am so thankful."—MRS. GENIE KELLOGG, Berlin Heights, Ohio.

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters which we constantly publish, we have deposited with the National City Bank of New York, $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E.
